

Open Source Professional Network (OSPN)

The Open Source Professional Network (OSPN), powered by OpenTeams Global, is an exclusive open source global community marketplace where open source contributors, maintainers, trainers, and practitioners, can market their skills, projects, domain expertise, and career interests. The marketplace also serves as a center of excellence that enables enterprises to find talent and training to address the widening skills shortage across the technology industry.

Open Source contributors access the largest association of technical, data, and open source talent around the world.

The OSPN provides you with a place to create a profile (outline your career status, your skills, projects, and development goals), and connect to others in the professional network (using RocketChat).

Soon, the OSPN will provide access to events, training, mentoring, and career opportunities, to help you as an open source contributor to succeed, develop, and network.
